To the Loyal People of the United States : The undersigned members of the committee appointed by convention of Seuthern loyalists, lately assembled in Philahis, to visit the tomb of our martyred President, Abraham in, as a testimony of the admiration and affection with Union men of the South remember his single-hear triotism, have discharged that duty. The enthusiastic greetage which we received all along our route are sufficient evi nee that the Union party is still intact. We return our sinere and hearty thanks for the uniform courtesy and kindness

We have expressed ourselves atrongly in this paper, because we feel deeply. The bones of our dead are in Southern graves. Sur homes are there. All the clustering recollections of our childhood are connected with the soil from which we are called topen to exite ourselves. The past two weeks the detectives of this city have seen working up a case of theft from the Paymaster's Department at the Navy Yard here of the following articles: Four pea jackets, 34 round jackets, 76 pairs blue cloth trowsers, 15 pairs blue satinet trowsers, 16 pairs canvas duch trowsers, 77 blue overshirts, 424 pairs blue drawers, 96 yards blue satinet, 790 naley shirting, 329 yards canvas duck, 107 pairs kin silk handkerchiefs, 1.500 pounds salt-water soap, 26 pounds beeswax, 91 pounds white thread, 1,201 pieces hat ribbon, 645 pieces black tape, 951 spoofs cotton, 83 pounds black sewing silk, 108 cotton. pocket-bandkerchiefs, 1,020 papers of needles, 425 thimbles, 37 jack-knives, 110 pairs of seissors, 53 razors, 16 razor straps, 332 kettles, 87 mess pans, 328 bottles of mustard, and 253 bottles of pepper; valued in all, at between $14,000 and $16,000. They resterday arrested one of the paymaster's clerks, named Asbury Thompson, finding at his home very many of the stolen goo At the examination to-day, before the Chief of Police, Thompson pleaded guilty, and was held in default of bail for the sum of $10,000. The principal witness was Henry Bute, steward on coard the gunboat Scuttery, who testified to carrying bundles at different times for Thompson, in which he knew articles similar to those enumerated as lost were the contents. Owing to an inopportune notice in the Washington column of The Herald a day or two since of a pending investigation into this matter, the person on whom suspicion lighted as having bought most of these goods has disappeared, and the late storm having effected serigoods has disappeared, and the discretives have not learned of his arrest, though they have capable men upon his track. Bute acknowledges to having bought 25 slik neck handkerchiefs a yard square for $1, and further instances cases of seamen now away who have made similar purchases of the prisoner. A thorough investigation into the case will be made, and a revision of the Navy-Yard Regulations will be made by the Department that will in future prevent similar transactions at the Government's THE VANDERBILT MAIL LINE.

It is stated that the difficulty between Cornelius Vanderbilt and the Post-Office Department has been aminably arranged, and that postal railway cars are to be placed upon the Hudson River, Harlem, and Central Railroads.

CABINET RUMORS.

A well-based rumor prevails in political circles that Cowan, having been unseated by the Pennsylvania elections, is to be offered the position of Secretary of War, vice Stanton, who, it is said, intends to leave immediately upon the completion of his annual report.

SALARIES OF GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS. The following decision relative to the payment of increased salaries of Government officials is to-day promul-

In reply to inquiries whether or not an appropriation by Congress, based upon and conforming to an estimate, carried with it the authority to pay the salaries and items contemplated in such estimates, the proper accounting officer decided that the practice had been to pay both the salaries and the increase of salaries on an estimate and appropriation; that Congress had given the strongest implied sanction to this construction, for in July, 1832, the following section was introduced into the deficiency bill, viz:

That no estimate or appropriations shall authorize the payment of any increased pay, allowance, or compensation in any torm whatever beyond the smooth prescribed by law, in any case, unless there shall farst be a specific direction of such earlies payment.

But at the same session, in the next month of August, this section was repealed. On the principle of exclusions as we est suchus alterias. Congress by the repeal of the prohibition in effect authorized the exercise of the previously prohibited power of making payments on the strength of estimates and appropriations.

IMPORTANT TO DISTILLERS.

The following circular, concerning the connection of stills with receiving cisterns, was to-day issued by the Com of stills with receiving cisterns, was to day issued by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue:

OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE, WASHINGTOR, Oct 11, 1866.
Information has been received at this office that officers of internal revenue in various perts of the country are permitting distillers to confirme, under the new law, the old practice of separating the low and high wines, by allowing them to run into separate open the placed near the outlet of the still or worm. It is understood that the almost universal custom is grain distilleries has been to place near the outlet of the worm two open tabs, into one of which the high wines are conveyed, and into the other the low wines—tee former connected by pipes with the high-wine cistern, and the latter with the still of doubler.

This arrangement is not consistent with the are conveyed, and into the other the low wines—the former connected by pipes with the high-wise cissers, and the latter with the still of doubler.

This arrangement is not consistent with the terms of the Act of July 13, 1895. Section 34 par. 125 of that act provides that all the spirits distilled during each day, of 34 hours, shall be conveyed on that day into one of the receiving cisterns prepared for that purpose, and that much cistern shall be convered with the outlet of the still by salisable pipes or other apparatus, so constructed as always to be exposed to the river of the inspector.

This language clearly prohibits the use of open tubs for separating low and high wines. The cutted of the still or worm sure be connected with the cistern by pipes or other apparating exposed to the view of the inspector. Open tubs are not "pipes or other apparating to out off the opportunities for the commission of fraud hereafters existing. To this end, the design was to keep the spirite, as it were, inting. To this end, the design was to keep the spirite, as it were, inting. To this end, the design was to keep the spirite, as it were, inting. To this end, the design was to keep the spirite, as it were, under close goard, continuously, from the worm with the cistern, by having the cistern in a safe room under the lock and safe of the inhypector, and by having the spirite, under the immediate inspection of that officer, drawn off into casks or packages, which, after being daily gauged proved, and marked, he is to see tembered into the bended warehouse, which, again, is under his lock and key.

Now, to permit the spirits to be fun from the worm into open tubs, for the outenable purpose of separating the low from the high wines, would be to frustriet the grand object of the law, and render all other safeguards provinced by the law woully nuggetor.

Consequently, danielers must to all cases he required to connect the cities of worm with the receiving claterit by pipes or other spiparatus, which must be so contructed as to co castern.

As it is necessary for the interest of the distiller to prevent the low wines from running into the high-wine clatern, and as the use of the case table for this purpose cannot be allowed, it becomes necessary to adopt some arrangement by which the can be done.

It is decined extractly feasible to separate the new from the high without day.

PENNSYLVANIA. THE CHAIRMAN OF THE STATE COMMITTEE CONGRATU-LATES THE PEOPLE.

The following circular has been published by order of the Union State Central Committee of Pennsylvania:

On behalf of the Committee, I congratinate the people of the State upon the grand results of the recent political contest. We have elected our candidate for Governor by a large majority. We have indersed the constitutional amendments proposed by Congress. We have secured about two thirds of both branches of the Legislature. We have elected is out of 24 members of Congress a gain of two over our present delegation. These are the substantial results of our complete and magnificent victory; a victory achieved by the patriotic efforts of a loyal people, in defiance of the beasest betrayal on record, and in spite of the most reckiess abuse of Government patronage ever encountered by any party; a triumph of right over wrong, and fairly won, in as desperate a struggle and squinst as unscripulous means as were ever resorted to by any alversary. Thanks to the giver of all victories. Thanks to all our celaborers, and especially to my able, devoted and efficient secretaries, who tolled with me most faithfully for four months without fee or reward. Thanks to the other members of this Committee and to the various local organizations. Thanks to the gallant "Boys in Bine," who fought and won another battle for their country, and to the able and patriotic press throughout the State. And last, but not least, many thanks to the oble Union League and the patriotic liberality of our friends in the City of Philadelphia. By order of the Committee.

A CITY RAILROAD CASE.

Witheim Gabel agt. The Third-ave. Eadlroad Company.
This was one of the usual railroad cases, in which the plaintiff claims that he was injured through the negligence of the railroad company. It appears that he halled a car, which stopped for him, and that when on the point of getting in, one foot being actually on the step, the impatient conductor started the car, throwing him down, turning his ankle and otherwise injuring, and, as he claims, making him lame for life. The damages he asks are nearly $20,002. The Company put in a general denial, and say that his injuries, if they arose as stated by him, are not so severe as he attempts to make out. That as soon as they heard of it they sent their physician to him, who made some six or seven calls. This physician being absent, the Court adjourned to to-day, to procure his testimony.

Before Justice Jones.

Alexander A. Besse art. Benjamin Noyes.

The plaintiff claims damages for an assault, not very serious in itself, but of a peculiarly unpleasant nature in its attending circumstances, having occurred in the presence of a lady with whom he had (or supposed he had) at the time rather tender relations.

Alexander A. Besse, the plaintiff, testified that he hired the conduct.

Benjamin Noyes the defendant testified that he was a resident of New Haven. He married Miss Gardiner on the 17th of February last; he had known her some four menths. He formed the plaintiff's acquaintance in September, 1865. He was on the 22d of Jannary engaged to Miss Gardiner; Mr. Bess knew this; he had himself told him in the very parior some days before in the presence of Miss Gardiner. The plaintiff on that occasion used some indecorous language toward Miss Gardiner, when he told the plaintiff he was engaged to Miss Gardiner and must protect her; on the 22d of January Mr. Besse came into the parlor in the early part of the evening, and made use of indecorous language toward Miss Gardiner and himself; he was very much intoxicated and they took no notice of him; he came in again about more force than was necessary to accomplish his object.

The jury rendered a verdict for the defendant.

Cross-examined—I did not last year, and never knew that plaintiff was engaged to Miss Gardiner; I never heard of it;
he never claimed it, and Miss Gardiner never did; I only heard of what Mr. Besse stated to other people; I never heard of his furnishing her house with money or goods; she paid her own bills: I did see two buckets of butter which he sent in; I have had occasion to examine Miss Gardiner's bills, and am satisfied he never furnished any; I consulted inspector Carpenter before the 22d as to what I should do, and acted in accordance with his directions; I never directed Mr. Carpenter to send to the plaintiff's store; I know Capt; Young, and think I told him of the difficulty; I did not advise Mr. Young to send for the plaintiff, and have no knowledge of any such thing; at the first interview I have testified to, after his return from New-Orleans, he came into the room while I was there; he behaved himself very well; on the 22d of January, when he first came in, I was sitting at the end of the center table, and Miss Gardiner at the other end; about 9 o'clock of the same evening, he came in again; we were not on the sofa; I think I was not on the sofa; the

ASSAULT ON A CHILD.

Mary Foley agt, John Brennan.

The plaintiff in this case is a chikl of 10 years of age, and from the testimony of herself and her little sister, it appears that in June last, they, with the permission of Mrs. Brennan, went down into the basement of the defendant's house to play. The defendant came in shortly afterward, and ordered them out. On their failing to comply immediately, he seized the plaintiff by the arm, board, and kleked her so that she was ill for some time. The plaintiff also tostified that she and her sister were the only ones present when the assault was committed. The defendant denied having committed the assault, and brought in the evidence of two children, who testified that they were present on the occasion, and that as soon as Mr. Brennan Two SACE COATS STOLEN -- Franklin A. ATALANTA BOAT CLUB'S REGATTA. The annual rowing contest of the Atalanta Boat Club of Newark came off yesterday afternoon on the Hudson River. The course was from a stake-boat anchored off the Club House The course was from a stake-boat anchored off the Club House of the New-York Yacht Club one mile and a half up the river and return, making it a three-mile race. The prize was the champion belt of the club, which is competed for yearly. The contestants pulled in single scull-working boats, and at the signal, the following came into line: David Banks, jr., rowed by R. Withers: Unknown, rowed by W. Mainland; Buckshot, rowed by J. Ogden, and the Fannie C. Russell, rowed by C. Probst. Shortly after 5 o'clock p. m. the start was made, with Probst and Mainland leading; Withers was well up with Ogden in company. The latter did not pull any great distance, but soon left the field to the other contestants. Mainland kept his advantage to the upper stake, which he reached some two or three lengths ahead of Withers, who was second. On the down stretch Probst passed Withers, obtaining for himself the second place, but he was not able to overhauf Mainland, who came home in the good time of 20:30, a winner of the belt. Probet was second, in 32. Withers' time was 32:40. The river was very rough, and a high wind provalled. At the termination of the race the club and their friends had a vary pleasant time in their boat house. Referee, Mr. Alden S. Swan.
